hnique - What John Will Teach You

Safety - How to protect yourself yourself in the ocean.

Skills - The easiest and most functional tools to alter your position in the ocean, under all conditions.

Etiquette - How it works out there, so we can all get along.

You will learn how:

Your position while you are in the ocean changes everything.

To paddle through waves, catch waves, ride waves, what style is, how to turn, trim and end your ride safely!

No one ever masters surfing. Each wave is a unique opportunity to practice various skills of controlling an inanimate object (your surfboard) in an ever-changing, uncontrollable environment.

Surfing is an art, not a science. It is an individualistic pursuit. It is a practice, like yoga, and sometimes a lifestyle. If you practice surfing with humility, you can have as much fun on your first day as your last day.

Enjoy the ride!

John's Bio

John Philbin grew up surfing the rocky shorelines of Palos Verdes, California.

"I serve the sport through my instruction. Safety is paramount, and all surfing etiquette evolves from this paradigm."

John graduated from Palos Verdes high school, attended UCSB for two years, where he competed on the schools surf team, then transferred to the USC Conservatory of Fine Arts to graduate with a BFA in theater.

John Philbin has appeared in thirty films and TV movies.

During the filming of North Shore, Gerry Lopez said to John, "Surfing is one of the cheapest and safest forms of entertainment and recreation there is, and you can do it all around the world for the rest of your life."

John took his advice and has been surfing all over the world ever since.

Along his journey, he has learned humility from the ocean and gained a respect and gratitude for its power. "All surfers have been worked and drilled by the ocean and it's a humbling experience. It is also a rare gift and a priviledge, something very few people on our planet have the opportunity to do. Waves are nature's way of transmitting energy. There are light waves and sound waves, but ocean waves are the only waves that humans can ride and interact with in a playful way. I try to teach gratitude, respect and humility for that priviledge."
